Mary-Ann Jones :

Okay. Okay. Great stuff. So I think there's a huge communication problem between me and you at the moment. I don't think that what you are doing is really supporting what we need to achieve as a team and as a level tool. There is the request that I asked you to attend to. You said that you will not attend to it. You're sending escalations to CBNR without us knowing what it's about. We need to do reporting on those. If I have to get any questions, I wouldn't know. Maybe the intention is that I should not be knowing. But as a team leader.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Okay, so sorry. Sorry. Something that is not the intention. First of all, immediately after I send that message to some viewer, I informed you saying that I am sorry, but I forgot to cc you in that complaint. Do you remember me sending that email to you?

Mary-Ann Jones :

Sorry. Well, but you did not inform me.

Wilbur William Matthee :

I did. All right, I did inform you. I did inform you. As soon as. As soon as I send that CMBR referral, I send you an email. I just want to open my email quickly.

Mary-Ann Jones :

And if I speak again, if you can just give me the opportunity to finish speaking, I would appreciate that first or. All right. If there is. Because we can't all speak at the same time and then. Yeah, I don't know what your intention is with.

With what is happening at the moment, but it's not right. I'm not standing for that.

Wilbur William Matthee :

When we were.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Hold on, let me finish. I was in my police office. I asked if you now want to go to the other team. You said no, no, no, no, no. But what you are doing now, you are undermining me. You're undermining what I'm trying to do in the team. And I would really appreciate if you think about that. Take a step back. I do not want you to get into a situation where I ask you to do something. Then you have to apologize and send me a long letter afterwards. Let's avoid that. All right.

Wilbur William Matthee :

So you have to take in into consideration, Marianne, that I'm also still learning. This is also new to me. All these stuff that I'm doing is new. And sometimes I do forget this little thing here. Hence I did send you that follow up email on the CMBR query. I told you. Good afternoon. I just wanted to let you know that I reached out to some people regarding a CMBR admission concern. I realized afterwards that I didn't. I didn't consult you first or CCU in the email. Please let me know if you'd like me to forward the details or keep you updated on the outcomes. You reply to me on that email. Just good day, Wilbur. That's right. And then I said thank you for the sop. So I did reply on it and I did get back to you. So you should also take it from a manager's point of view that I am also learning these stuff still and I am going to make along the way.

Mary-Ann Jones :

So. So why don't you reach out to me when you have a question, when you wondering about something, why don't you reach out to me first?

Wilbur William Matthee :

I normally do too. Don't I normally do reach out?

Mary-Ann Jones :

No. No, you didn't. You didn't. You did not. For the cbnr. That's one example that you did.

Wilbur William Matthee :

That's why I send you immediately the follow up email in telling you that good afternoon. I did not. I realized afterwards I didn't consult and I didn't CCU in the email.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Okay. So do you think in that case, if you've forgotten, wouldn't it have been more transparent if you just had to send this? Yeah. Mary. And there's a referral that I sent to thingy apologies that I didn't include you from the first place. So now you're asking me permission. Should I have included you in this? I don't think that is the right.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Way to read the email correctly. I think maybe you need correctly. Marianne.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Maybe take a step back. And the noise that you're creating today is another thing. I spoke to you this morning. When I want to speak to you, I reach out to you and I speak to you. All right.

Wilbur William Matthee :

I just didn't think it was fair to tell me this morning before I started to work that I need to be back in office when the agreement wasn't that. That wasn't the initial agreement we had. And that's why I asked the team if anyone else received that information. And no one received that information. What does that tell me then? At the end of the day?

Mary-Ann Jones :

What does it tell you?

Wilbur William Matthee :

Maybe I'm being targeted. Maybe I was going to be.

Mary-Ann Jones :

I thought so. I thought you made a case of harassment against me last time. Isn't that so? And you must misspelled my name in an email. Go check so I can against you too.

Wilbur William Matthee :

I'm not. I don't want to go back and forth with you about. About things that's really not valid about or to talk about. So

I want us to focus on what is really important.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yes. No, you want to. You want to focus on what is important.

Yeah. I want to say to you what you are currently doing. I'm not in line with what you're currently doing. All right. If you're not happy in this team, ask to be removed from the team.

Wilbur William Matthee :

I'd rather do that.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yes. Rather do that. Send Mapule the email asking if you can be removed from the team because you do communicate like that. So if that is whatever we then doing here, it's not working for you. Because it's definitely not working if you just go, we had a discussion and then you go, boom. No, I don't work.

Wilbur William Matthee :

I wanted clarity. No, I don't think there's anything wrong with that because you made it final when you told me this morning you made it final. I need to be back in office on Monday.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Did you want.

Wilbur William Matthee :

That's the clarity I wanted. But why should we when we've already made arrangements, when we already made plans, when we already, you know, what we're going to be doing for the next month or so. And now all of a sudden, boom, I need to be back in office.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Maybe it is like you say, you're being targeted. Last time you said I was harassing you. I'm misspelling your name. So this time around it's targeting you. So tomorrow it can be victimization and let's say it can be whatever in there.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Yeah.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yeah. So please, Wilbur, just be mindful, take a step back if you have to think things through before you just go out there and just do whatever you are doing at the moment now. Because as me as a team leader.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Clarity for the team. The team. The team who volunteered to do the pilot study. I was supposed I had to get clarity from them as well because if it comes to me, it should count for everyone else on the pilot study.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yeah. I think last time we did have a problem with the communication where you mentioned maybe the communication wasn't clear. I think it is still unclear. Maybe it would be best for you then to ask Mapule if you can move to another team leader.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Yeah, I think that would be the best.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yes, I think so. Because, yeah, I don't want to be after the fact, find out as a team leader that has expectations in a role after the fact, found out, xyz, whatever. And you will not do this, you will not do that. That is creating complications in the team for me as your team leader. Yes, definitely. Yeah. So I will give you final feedback on the. The Monday, Monday working. But please, in future, please rather respond instead of reacting. I would appreciate that. I think that's just what both of us can do. Just Just respond. Yeah, don't react.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Just respond. Yeah. So. Oh, I will definitely respond next time because I didn't know who to respond to because you've already made up your mind. You already said that this is set. I need to be back on Monday. So. Yeah. So that's why I wanted some clarity.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yes. But I do feel that, yeah, maybe the best if you. If rather. If you have a problem with my. Rather osma pule. If you can meet. Don't worry, I don't have a problem.

Wilbur William Matthee :

I just don't have a problem with you. I maybe have a problem in the way you do things because you also phoned me out of office hours to tell me that that was quite. For me, that was a bit upsetting as well. Could have thought, like, it's so short notice. I've already got my plans out. And yeah, I get this news. Oh, no. But this is what needs to happen now. And that was not pre discussed or anything. So it's. To me, that was short notice. It was. Wow. Did the policy change? Did the agreement change? I don't know. So hence I asked for clarity.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Wilbur, I work after hours, many hours where you send me a message when I'm not working. I'm not officially on duty, and still I respond back to you. So please. You see, this is a perfect example now of you wanting to exploit one situation. But please remember the other side of the thing. I sit there by my computer. I'm not working. It's pause my working time. You're sending me a message and I respond back to you. I give you the courtesy of responding back to you even though I'm not working. So please, so don't. Don't make things more than what it is. All right? Just take from both sides. So, yes, I phoned you before the time this morning, but, oh, let me just remember, Mary Ann also do respond to me when she's not working. So see it from that side.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Setting for me. I do. I do see it from that side. Yeah.

Mary-Ann Jones :

And that's why I'm asking that you respond. Don't react.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Act. Yeah, true, true. So like

I said, I do not have a problem with working with you, Marianne. That is not the thing that I have. It's just the fact that this was really. I was so shocked. I was like, whoa. Why? What happened? Did the agreement change? What's going on? Set in stone.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Remember the schedule was made out when we didn't even start with a pilot. Remember the schedule was made out way before the time. And since then, the Pilot has grown, things have changed. This had to be adjusted. Everybody was told in the beginning, you can work 8 to 5. And then that was changed and the team was upset about that and we had to say no in office staff work at the clock and staff from home work the latest shift and all of that things. So from where we started to where we are, and I don't think we are finished with all the changes in any case. And as we are saying, we are seeing everything that is happening now, three more questions came up this morning. How do we deal with this and that and whatever that we have to now see how we going to combat that as well. So we not finished. This is a pilot.

Nothing is caused in stone. But things are subject to change as well. So maybe we just have an open. What do you call that open mindset to. To whatever can still be changed. This is a pilot after all. So that means yes, we want the. The better outcome. Yes, you guys want this. But there is quite a bit of challenges and I mentioned that also when, when I reach out to you guys with all of this of the pilot that everybody wants.

So yeah. So please just keep an open mind. I would appreciate if you take a step back, if you do decide that you do ask Mapule that you want to be out of the team. But I also believe that me and you as a team, I was supporting you for months on end. But I cannot continue on the way that we are continuing on as a team leader or somebody in my team. Another question I want to ask you because you in my team, on my team, in our team, are you having meeting with the team? Are you scheduling meetings with the teams in the department?

Wilbur William Matthee :

So to be honest, yes, I am.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yeah. And tell me Wilbur, because I became aware of it then, how often is those meetings?

Wilbur William Matthee :

It's not often.

Mary-Ann Jones :

How often is.

Wilbur William Matthee :

We only had one meeting.

Mary-Ann Jones :

One meeting. Okay, great.

Because. And now operationally, if that is happening, okay, if we're looking at operationally, that's now the whole team. I don't know. I don't know all the details, of course. But if that is happening and depending on how often it's happening, how long is this meeting, Would it affect us operationally? Would we as team leaders be able to justify why that was happening?

Is it necessary? Is it a union meeting? Should it be a union meeting or is it just a nice chill department kind of meeting? Should we then cancel

the. The. These chilling sessions and things that we're having? How. What is the effect of this at the end of the day?
Chantal, aware of the.

Wilbur William Matthee :

So the team discussion on the work from home policy was a meeting that I created prior to sending this email to Mapule requesting for the policy. It was just a short meeting that we had to discuss on what we want to put in on that. Me on the email and stuff wasn't a long meeting. Yeah.

Mary-Ann Jones :

So was that put on the time sheets of the team? Did I approve that? Was it now in October or September?

Wilbur William Matthee :

It was in a second. Ninth month in September.

Mary-Ann Jones :

September. Was that put on the time sheet? The time.

Wilbur William Matthee :

No, I didn't think so.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Don't think so. Okay. Don't think so. Okay. Because if I did approve that, then that is so wrong. If I approve that time on that thingy time sheet. If it was something that untoward. Wilbur, I think when you come into office we need to have a person face to face. I like face to face in such instances. But I do believe this is not healthy. What's happening now is not healthy. I worked really hard to get to a healthier point. I thought you were adding to it. Not 100% sure. Now we need to find a way forward then or otherwise you need to reach out to Mapole then. But what is happening at the moment is not healthy for me and you, for our team and for what's happening in the department as well. So yeah, we should have a one on one about that.

Wilbur William Matthee :

So what you are also telling me right now, if you. You say something, basically, I cannot ask for second opinion. I should just go with what you say, right? That's what you're saying, Boba, you don't.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Ask for second opinions.

Wilbur William Matthee :

What do you mean? If I'm unclear about something and you didn't answer me and I need more clarity, why can't I ask for clarity?

Mary-Ann Jones :

I hear you. I hear what you're saying. So though, you're talking about what you put in the chat now?

Wilbur William Matthee :

Yes. Yes.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Were you advised to maybe speak to your team lead about it first then?

Wilbur William Matthee :

But we spoke about it.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yeah. No. And still you create all of this with a team and somebody had to go into the chat and say, perhaps you should discuss it with your team leader.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Yeah, maybe rediscover. That's why I brought it up in the meeting we had because I was also about unsure how to go about this. Because. Yeah, like I didn't know. Like you've already said it. It's if I don't return to work, that can be seen as insubordination. As you mentioned before, where I instructed.

Mary-Ann Jones :

On that email, say if you don't return to work, then it can be seen as well.

Wilbur William Matthee :

But please don't word it. No, you didn't say that. I said it can be seen.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Seen.

Wilbur William Matthee :

It can be seen. I know. I said it can be seen as insubordination. It can be seen as that, and I do not want that because obviously we already have that issue about the email about the callback to that member. I really felt bad about it afterwards when I reviewed it, and I thought to myself, shoot, this can be seen as insubordination.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Yes, it was, but.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Okay, I do. And I do hear you, but I did have a valid point at the time, as I would have liked you guys to tell me, okay, fine, I do hear you, but please do phone this member, and then we can maybe escalate it to the DMS team X, Y and Z. I didn't know.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Lisa Marie said. Lisa Marie. Lisa Marie, you know, she. The strategic team. She's the top of this. She said she spoke into the adherence.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Yes, but then, remember, then I just followed up on my. On my investigation, and then I put myself. Oh, goodness.

Mary-Ann Jones :

I think we need to come into office. We're gonna write all of these down, unpack each one. What's happening now? It's not healthy. I come to work. To work. I do not come to work to strive about emails and about this and about that. And no, it's too much. It's not healthy for me. We need to take a step back.

Wilbur William Matthee :

A step back.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Cool.

Wilbur William Matthee :

So there's no. You're also telling me there's no. No room for growth, then if I take. Constantly take a step back. If I don't. If I'm not in agreement with something, I should just take a step back, right?

Mary-Ann Jones :

Well, I'm not. I'm not telling you nothing. I'm not telling you nothing. You hear what you're saying? I'm telling you. No, I'm not telling you nothing. I didn't tell you. No, nothing I'm not telling you. I'm saying don't respond. Don't react.

Rather respond. Take a step back. Meaning, basically, just before you want to dance, think about it first. Think about it first. So think about what? If you're starting something, think about. Okay, you're starting this now. What can the ripple effect of all of this be at the end of the day? I'm not saying you mustn't question it. I'm not saying that you mustn't question it, but think of your actions and the ripple effect of your actions at the end of the day.
But like I said, this is not.
What's happening is not healthy.
And. And, you know, I try to keep it open, honest. Whatever.

We haven't spoken since we've been in the office there. I think it's time for us to sit and face to face. Besides, before or without Mapule them,
if you decide you're still gonna go there, yes, you go there. But I think it's important that we must have some other, healthier something going on. But you do have the recording as proof, if you need it. So, Wilbur, I will chat to you later again. I did call you because I felt what was happening was a bit uncooled for you. She wanted clarity, and I'm glad that somebody in the chat said, maybe you must rediscuss it with your team leader then.
So, yeah, I did appreciate that.
So I will speak to you again this afternoon. We, as the team leaders with a hybrid, need to have a meeting. I did reach out to them, and I'm waiting on a response so that we can all come to a consensus about this, that,

and the other about the hybrid.
We'll give you feedback later.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Okay. Thank you very much.

Mary-Ann Jones :

Great stuff. Thank you.

Wilbur William Matthee :

Bye. QR code.
